About Us

We're a passionate, lived experience-led team delivering training and consultancy across health and social care.

With over 30 years' experience, our teams have worked with organisations such as the NHS, local authorities, and large care groups to develop and roll out training programmes, safeguarding strategies and more.

Our training is shaped by those who know care best. Every member of our training team brings a unique depth of insight, either through active roles on the social care frontline or through personal lived experience. This brings authenticity, empathy, and relevance to every session, making learning practical and deeply impactful.

We don't just deliver training. We partner with organisations to understand their needs, support workforce development, and drive meaningful change in practice.

Our mission is to empower people, shift cultures and drive quality.
